TILL TALKING PEACE

Plans for the Future Are Discussed at Congress.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Having viewed the present aspect of the peace movement from various standpoints, including those of the politician, the business man and the educator, delegates to the second National Peace Congress to-night considered plans for the future.

In the Fine Arts Building President John S. Nollen, of Lake Forest University, wielded the gavel over a special session devoted to the relation of schools and colleges to the peace movement.

Edwin D. Mead, of Boston, discussed the "Arrest in Competitive Arming in Fidelity to The Hague Movement," and Congressman Richard Bartholut, of Missouri, among other things, referred with sarcastic emphasis to the inconsistency of a race of people that insisted that the individual should settle his differences by peaceful methods in the courts, while nations were left to refer their own squabbles to war.

James Brown Scott, solicitor of the State Department at Washington, was indisposed when his name was reached on the program at to-day's session, and his paper was read.

Belton Gilreath and T. H. Molton, of Birmingham, Ain, both on to-day's program, were not present being delayed by a cow, which, according to a telegram from Gilreath, tried to cross in front of the locomotive of their train, derailing the locomotive and delaying the passengers.

35,000 homeless and penniless refugees are wandering in the vilayet.

The deaths in Adana city alone are estimated at 6,500.

Adana is terrorized by 4,000 soldiers, who are looting, shooting and burning. No respect is paid to foreign properties. Both the French schools have been destroyed, and it is feared that the American school, commercial and missionary interests in Adana are totally ruined. The new Vall has not as yet inspired confidence. There is 'reason to believe that the authorities still intend to permit the extermination of all Christians. The troops here are making a pretense of throwing 'water' on the flames. Instead of water, they use kerosene, and are thus purposely adding to the conflagration. Apprehension is felt here regarding the American missionary stations at Haddin and Tarsus.

All letters and telegrams sent out through Turkish channels are censored.

Mrs. Montgomery Agrees to Ouash Claim of $12,500 Against Northwestern.

COMPANY REFUSED TO PAY FULL VALUE

Grounds Were Concealment and Breach of Warranty-Contest Brought by Heirs of Samuel Y. Gilliam, of Petersburg, Is Still Pending, but May Be Adjusted.

By agreement of counsel for the plaintiff and the defendant company, a compromise was effected yesterday morning which finally settles the suit of Jirs. Jennie S. Montgomery against the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, Mrs. Montgomery sued for $12,500, and alleged that her husband, the late Joseph S. Montgomery, in purchasing two policies for $5,000 each, had fully compiled with all the requirements of the contracts.

The insurance company complained that the fact that Mr. Montgomery suffered from severe headaches, for relief from which he was in the habit of taking headache tablets, had not the discount of the line of the line of the habit of taking headache tablets, had not the discount of the line of taking headache tablets, had not the discount of the line of taking headache tablets, had not the line of the

that the fact that Mr. Montgomery suffered from severe headaches, for relief from which he was in the habit of taking headache tablets, had not been disclosed by him in his application for insurance, nor the further fact that about six weeks before his death, and about three weeks before the policy was issued, he had such a severe attack of heart failure, as the result of taking the tablets, that it was necessary to call in a physician.

Took Headache Tablets.

Mr. Montgomery, who was formerly a well known merchant, of this city, died on December 15, 1905, and the policles were dated November 26, 1905. On November 27, 1907, Mrs. Montgomery, through John Garland Pollard, her attorney, entered suit for the recovery of the amount of the insurance, to which $2,500 was added for costs in the case. The Northwestern Life Insurance Company, in the meantime, had refused to pay the claim, and based its action on the allegations above stated.

Since it was first entered, the suit has been postponed each time the United States Circuit Court met, and at the last term it was stated that a compromise would probably be reached, Auccordingly Judge Waddill agreed that the case could go over. The order throwing the suit out of court was entered by Judge Waddill spreed that the case could go over. The order throwing the suit out of court was entered by Judge Waddill yesterday morning.

The company in question has paid out nearly $1,000,000 in claims to policy-holders in Virginia, and the only three contested cases have been those in which the heirs of Mr. Montgomery. Samuel McCue, who was hanged for wife-murder, in Charlottesyille, and Samuel Y. Gilliam, of Petersburg, who was either accidentally or intentionally killed, in falling or jumping from a street car between this and the Cockade City, are concerned. The McCiecase is now pending in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.
